“ As much as I know better, it feels as though someone turned out the light in this world. Fourteen years....we had a great run. I promise to keep everything in perspective and I promise to uphold any truth you ever entrusted to me. I love you Justin. I love you.

“ I only knew him and his partner online for a few years....LOVELY doesn't begin to describe them. This saddened me that we live in the same state and I didn't get to meet him. Having lost my own partner in 2007, I know the pain and hope that the family and friends find strength to heal their hearts and remember the good times that they shared with him.
